RM awardees cancel trip

2 Chinese bureaucrats not coming for award rites

By Ma. Cora F. Doyo and Christian Y. Espueta

THE ANNUAL Ramon Magsaysay Awards rites have become another unfortunate casualty of the botched hostage-ransom fiasco.

Two of the three Chinese recipients of the Ramon Magsaysay Awards for 2015, both government bureaucrats, will not be coming to receive the honors on Aug. 31.

But the third Chinese awardee, photographer Huo Daishan, is already in the country and is participating in the series of lectures and meetings that have been arranged by the Ramon Magsaysay Award Foundation. (See related story on this page.)

The incident was scheduled to intervene yesterday the new awardees—Fu Qipeng, a farmer and village chief in China's Zhejiang province, and Pan Yan, a vice minister in the Ministry of Environmental Protection—but was told by an RMNF official that the two would not be coming.

The RMNF source said one of the Chinese awardees "might have taken ill," and did not give a reason for the second one's non-appearance.

There are speculations that their absence may have something to do with the diplomatic tension between Beijing and Hong Kong on one hand and the Philippines on the other caused by the Aug. 23 hostage crisis in Manila that ended in the killing of eight Hong Kong citizens.

Fu, 62, reportedly sent an urgent letter to the RMNF on Aug. 25, saying that he had "suddenly taken ill" and could not come to Manila to receive the Magsaysay Award.

Chinese photographer wins RM for helping save a river

By Ma. Cora F. Doyo

ONE DAY, Chinese photographer Huo Daishan was shocked to see that the Hui no longer looked like the river of his childhood.

It was highly polluted, emitted toxic fumes, yielded dead fish, and killed people. It had become a river of death.

"I lived there," Huo, 46, told the Inquirer. "I played there when I was a child. The water was clear and we could see fish. We could even drink the water."

Huo is one of the seven 2015 Ramon Magsaysay (RM) Award winners who will receive honors on Aug. 31, the 40th anniversary of the late President after whom the award is named.

He is being recognized for "his selfless and unrelenting efforts, despite formidable odds, to save China's river Hui and the numerous communities who drew life from it."

Huo is one of three Chinese RM awardees this year, and the 15th from the People's Republic of China since the RM Awards began in 1958. The two others, both government bureaucrats, will not attend the awarding ceremony. (See banner story.)

The RM Award Foundation honors individuals and institutions that have shown "graciousness of spirit in selfless service to the peoples of Asia."

The award is given to "persons—regardless of race, nationality, creed or gender—who address issues of human development in Asia with courage and creativity, and in doing so have made contributions which have transformed their societies for the better."

The great Hui River is known to have civilized ancient Chinese civilization.

By its banks lived great figures in Chinese history, among them Confucius, Mencius and Laozi. Legendary figures Fuqi, ancestor of all Chinese people,

Last interview: From agitation to despair, death

By Aksin Papa

THE BURN destruction of hostage-taker Eduardo Mendoza began with criticism and agitation, and ended in despair and death.

The live radio interview with the former senior inspector in the last hour of the Aug. 23 hostage-taking revealed the loss of trust and breakdown of communication between him and the negotiators, pushing him to launch his deadly shooting spree. (See excerpts on Page A6.)

The Inquirer obtained a copy of the transcript of the interview from the Radyo Ma Arakanewels (RMNF) network. Copies of the tape and of the transcript have been given to the Espinosa Magasin Broadcasters' Organization and the National Bureau of Investigation.

A number of newspapers in Hong Kong, which continues to be gripped by anger and grief over the death of eight of its residents, have also asked for copies.

RMNF officials said the live interview—conducted mostly in Filipino—started just before 6 p.m. and ran until the last seconds of the day. (See story on Page A6.)

Enchanting adventure in Agusan Marsh

By Jeffrey M. Tupa

Inquirer Manila

MANILA, Agusan del Sur—The first boats (vintas) glide through the seemingly infinite water world, their graceful paddle strokes only slightly disrupted by the white lip pads floating in the sparkling marsh water.

One visitor gripped the edge of a vinta, as if it could carry only four people.

As the boats slowly approached the forest of Lake Mindao, a bird that the Marsheno call the maoon flew out of nowhere—misleading everyone despite its fleeting presence.

To a wildlife tourist, this could be the perfect place to take a goldeneye, perhaps to prepare marriage, playing his trick on a bamboo raft on a night lit by candlelight.

Never mind that Lake Tuguegarao, known as the crocodile's nest, is nearby, or that the marshes may well include a beautiful goldeneye who dwells in the Agusan Marsh—the same goldeneye who, legend has it, has frequently expressed her love to a native.

In the swampy, thousands of egrets, herons, storks, sea eagles and other

Fertilizer scam fallout: 8 suspended

VIHAC, Cebu—The Office of the Ombudsman has ordered the suspension for six months of eight provincial government officials here for their involvement in the purchase of P5-million worth of fertilizers in 2004 using funds released by former Agriculture Undersecretary Jocelyn Teo-joc Bolante.

The Department of the Interior and Local Government, through its provincial office, implemented the Ombudsman's order on Tuesday afternoon after conferring with Gov. Joseph C. Gue.

The eight officials are provincial engineer Rodolfo U. Malibuan, provincial budget officer Bruno C. del Rosario, provincial agriculture officer Robert E. Evangelista, provincial assistant treasurer F. Villanueva, provincial treasurer Jolito M. Tanera, and administrative officer Jr. Roger M. Pregon, assistant provincial au-thorizer Roberto A. Almazan Jr. and engineer Irma E. Novilla of the Provincial Engineer's Office.

The Ombudsman's order said they are suspended for at least six months.

The respondents refused to comment. Malibuan said an appeal was being prepared by the local Oes, Leticia B. Pineda Jr. and lawyer Paul Llorca.

Tired by the Ombudsman's field investigation Office, the complaint focused on the alleged misuse and misappropriation of P5 million released by the Department of Agriculture to the provincial government, then headed by Bolante, for the implementation of the first fertilizer/seed program.

This was part of the grant-fertilizer scheme that was through a series of investigations by the Ombudsman. Overall, Deputy Ombudsman Orlando Constantino said in the July 21, 2010, order.

On April 21, 2008, Bolante approved the issuance of a sub-allocation advice (SAA) to the DA Regional Office Unit No. 4, leading the release of P5 million for Cebu.

The following day, Assistant Agriculture Secretary Belinda A. Gonzalez approved the SAA and the money was released to and used by the province.

The Ombudsman noted that in a letter dated Dec. 20, 2004, Bolante requested the DA Regional Office to immediately release funds for the purchase of 800,000 kg of fertilizer. Bolante, in turn, said, instructed the province to use the money to purchase 800,000 kg of fertilizer for P1.5 million.

However, signed the P5 million certified check availability, although the funds were actually received on Oct. 22, 2008.

The PR specified the brand name (Machete) and the quantity (800,000 kg) of fertilizer. The PR also specified the brand name (Machete) and the quantity (800,000 kg) of fertilizer. The PR also specified the brand name (Machete) and the quantity (800,000 kg) of fertilizer.

Some Chile miners showing mental cracks

COPINAO, CHILE—Five of the miners trapped underground in Chile for months to come are struggling psychologically, officials said on Friday, as engineers prepared to start drilling an escape shaft.

Thirteen of the 22 trapped miners were happy to wait for a mine-to-surface tunnel that has been dug to a depth where they can have a three-week relief, the rescue group refused and was unwilling to pay for the rescue.

"Five of the miners are suicidal, are not eating well and do not want to appear on camera," French-Italian mine rescuer Hans-Martin said. "This is what we call depression."

The miner said a psychiatrist would attempt to treat the men over an intercom system designed for them.

The mental isolation emerging among the miners held up at depth 730 meters under the surface of the earth, trapped below for the months of continued underground life have yet to end.

Engineers estimated it could take up to five months to excavate a rescue tunnel, wide enough for each man to be rescued from the dark and smoky tunnel they themselves have described as "hell."

During that time, the men were on normal food, no exercise, medical care and communication through a day shift probe hole that located them last January.

The big hydrolic bore to be used for the escape tunnel would begin drilling "between Sunday and Monday," following completion of a topographical survey and the laying of a concrete base for the machine, the engineer in charge of the operation, Juan Sanguinetti, said yesterday.

The bore, an American-made Orono 4000, drills at a maximum rate of 30 meters per day. The initial success still is nothing to be doubted in Chile, as it presents a more to pass-through.

The mine foreman said the mine officials from the 25-year-old agency have been active in the rescue of the miners since the rescue of the miners in 1972.

This is when the rescue operation was started by establishing that the miners were alive in the mine.

"When they get out and they find out what they have been through, it will be a miracle," said one of the engineers, Juan Sanguinetti.

Poland's 1980 strike spawned Solidarity, doomed communists

WARSAW—Thirty years ago, Poland was squarely in the global spotlight as a strike spawned Solidarity, the communist bloc's first free trade union, which has brought down the regime.

Aug. 31, 1980, was a national day for workers' solidarity and the strike against the communist bloc's first free trade union, which has brought down the regime.

Creating sustainable style and enriching lives through NUVALI livelihood programs

Bags made from just dry palm leaves. Baskets from floor seats, and home decor from old phone directories—these are just some of the sustainable styles made possible through recycling. The art of recycling is now part of the widespread green industry all over the world. The green means bringing new life to used things by creating new products for recycled materials into products of inspiration and greater use.

Today's trend is centered on being eco-friendly, green, and sustainability practices. Companies, organizations, and even individuals have set out on their own green crusade to minimize their carbon footprint and provide solutions to the growing threats of climate change.

For Ayala Land, Inc.—the Developer behind the 1,360-hectare NUVALI eco-development in Laguna—this is more than just a process, but an unrelenting commitment to the environment and its neighboring communities.

The Ayala Foundation's May Kukulapan programs—part of NUVALI's corporate social responsibility program—integrate recycling to different livelihood projects for the communities within and around the NUVALI development. NUVALI and partner company Sustainable Environment and Community Hope Organization, a friend that showcases eco-friendly hand-made products, make by different communities in the country, organize paper basket-weaving training seminars and workshops in 2009 to teach community partners the needed skill sets and to provide employment opportunities for them.

Today around 20 community partners, some asked mostly of housewives who wants help earn for their family, participate in this basket-weaving project. It is expected that weaving basket sets will further increase the participants in the community.

Paper weaving is crafting was the chosen venture because NUVALI believes it is relatively easy to keep at home. It doesn't require equipment like sewing machines and other expensive tools. It just takes a little creativity, hard work, and paper scraps like old newspapers, magazines, phone books, and other raw materials to create beautiful products like baskets, bags, lampshades, and bags.

At 70 to 100 pesos a piece, NUVALI paper handicrafts are not only economical, but eco-stylis and multi-functional. They make for eco-friendly home decor and perfect gift suggestions. The project generates employment and business opportunities for the population in different barangays in Cavendish and Sta. Rosa, and also, moreover, it contributes to NUVALI's long-term sustainability plans.

Do you know that choosing a type of paper can save about 11 trees? By the process of recycling and recycling, people can reduce the demand for virgin materials and into making new paper or new products. Hence, keeping the need to tap into our natural resources.

Among those who were interested with the NUVALI paper products was InterContinental Manila's executive chef Fabrice Pommerehne who purchased some baskets to be used for Christmas giveaways. He found out about the project when NUVALI had its products displayed in an exhibit at the hotel.

According to Pommerehne, he was impressed with the great quality and originality of the products, and was moved by what it stood for. "If we can help local communities, we are very willing to participate," says the French chef. "Nuvali Land is a green and globe-oriented company. Recycling is the basis for the next years and InterContinental shares the same vision. We are helping the earth find our way!"

Key to NUVALI's ultimate project also includes Ayala Subdivision, Ayala Alabang, and Alabang Barangay, which are dedicated to doing the education of elementary pupils, teaching important skills such as community leadership, environmental governance management. The May Kukulapan program also includes the production of green chemical toiletries made from dry organic materials, reducing the need to cut trees for burning and concrete hollow blocks composed of cement, sand and plastic waste.

As the rising growth center of the CALABARZON region, NUVALI's commitment to sustainability extends not only to recycling and community projects, but also as seen and experienced in the unique green design of different communities, rustic and modernized structures within the property. With a four-hectare lake swimming with thousands of hot fishes, natural flora and fauna, scenic landscapes, and open areas for fishing or walking, NUVALI is indeed the model development for sustainable living.

Archers bounce back, tame Tams

By Jasmine W. Pags

FEU is way for De La Salle to rebound from a low-life losing.

The Green Archers clamped down on defense late in the game to shut out the top-ranked Eastern U. Tamarans, 50-46, and downplay their own Final Four bid in the UMP men's basketball tournament yesterday at the Jarams Coliseum.

Six days after showcasing a 74-57 rout, ending from Eastern's First Nations, the Archers held FEU to just one field goal in the final quarter and became only the second team to outpace the Tamarans this season.

Since Adam jumped in a game-high 19 points while working up with rookies Jermaine Tampara and Luigi dela Paz in the last period as the Archers extended their hold of the fourth spot without a record.

"We showed character after the nightmare," said La Salle coach Ochoa Pantoja. "We showed our Agente and we reestablished FEU (49-127, I think that's correct)."

The Archers also dished the First Four hopes of other lower-ranked teams, including University of Santo Tomas, which topped University of the Philippines, 66-60, in the first game.

After being outscored with 17 points in the Tamarans' second game losing bid in its life University of the East at Clark with a 4-7 record.

The Tamarans led most of the game, broke Adam Mariano and Ochoa stepped up in a decisive 12-0 run that put them on top, 46-38, leading into the last three minutes.

Adam dropped his final and last triple in the Archers' 9-1 start in the fourth quarter for a 43-58 advantage.

Then Matt Villanueva and Yohan Antonio, who had done a La Salle's last three shots, helped put the game away.

"After the game against Ateneo, I knew we would bounce back," said Pantoja. "Everybody was encouraged with what happened."

The Tamarans, the first team to score a Final Four berth, remained on top with a 9-2 record.

Defending champion Ateneo and Adamson, sharing second place, dropped out of the top four in their 4 p.m. battle today also at the Jarams Coliseum.

Eastern U. and University of the East, both at 2-7.

Backward shots and two straight up-and-downs led dropped in 17th Mag. Gary and Mark Jarama, which would lead with momentum and late chances in the final stretch, drained the minutes this game.

Although back-to-back nights by Mike Mangin and Steve Pabla claimed the deficit in the deciding second, the rally ended with

Hermida, Matute share NCAA honors

By Correll P. Tapan

DAV (FEU) Sergio Hermida rose up with a late triple-double, while Steve Matute of Ateneo held out, who was once an often-injured and game-day center. Really played in his position.

Hermida and Matute moved out in a week when the top three teams held their position in the 2012 NCAA basketball tournament.

Hermida dished out a pair of solid all-around performances in the opening Under-19 men's side where Matute displayed his steady stroke from beyond the arc in games 60. They ended themselves to back in each other's.

For their effort, Hermida and Matute were named Associated Press (AP) Player of the Week of the Week presented by Associated Press (AP) Player of the Week.

"Sergio is a great player," said Ateneo coach Hermida. "He had 14 points, 10 rebounds and 10 assists in the game 60-48 win of Ateneo against the first time."

Both are two-time winners of the award after playing in the PBA's 2011 season. Hermida was all-around in the 2011 season with 17 points, seven assists and three rebounds.

Matute, meanwhile, scored 15-17 points in two games. The Filipino-American guard from San Diego made 22 points, including 12 from beyond the arc, to open the bracket and the La Salle-Ateneo, 74-60.

Matute played in nearly a two-game series during 17 points, off from beyond the arc, including 10 points of the first half.

SUZUKI APV GA

The ideal all-purpose business vehicle

Quickly making its mark as an excellent light commercial vehicle which can serve the diverse needs of a thriving business, the Suzuki APV GA definitely merits a closer look from enterprising businessmen looking for an excellent value proposition, balancing both affordability and durability in the perfect all-purpose business vehicle.

The Suzuki APV GA is powered by an 1500cc 16-valve engine with multi-point injection and distributor-less ignition system. Mated to a 5-speed manual transmission, it delivers a maximum output of 117hp @ 5750rpm and maximum torque of 127Nm @ 4100rpm, definitely sufficient power for carrying a full load of passengers or cargo, while optimizing fuel economy.

The Suzuki APV GA has a three-row seating configuration. With eight fold and tumble specifications for the middle and fourth-row seating for the last row, seating and luggage space can be configured as needed. As a people-mover, it can accommodate up to eight passengers. As a cargo van, there is more than enough space for two large 300kg boxes and other bulky-shaped payloads. It can hold even more cargo if the second row is also folded.

Power rack and power steering improve the drivability of the Suzuki APV GA. To ensure riding comfort, it is equipped with McPherson strut and coil spring front suspension paired with rigid axle and leaf spring rear suspension. Responsive combined front disk brakes and leading & trailing rear drum brakes make for a safer, more secure ride. Other safety features include two-trailor ABS sensors for all three rows, plus a center lock for the second and third row seats. A third lock is also available.

The value proposition for the Suzuki APV GA is enhanced by convenience features such as an audio system with an MP3/MP4 tuner and in-dash CD player. A powerful air conditioner keeps the cabin cool for a comfortable and enjoyable trip.

The Suzuki APV GA is the perfect vehicle for those looking for a delivery van for a small business, a school bus, a guest shuttle for resorts, a fleet vehicle for utility companies, etc. Perhaps the best choice for its buyers is its great price. Surprisingly affordable at only P343,000, this all-purpose business vehicle offers entrepreneurs and savvy businessmen a reliable workhorse that is backed by the quality assurance of a world-class vehicle manufacturer like Suzuki.

Suzuki Philippines is the only integrated automotive company in the country, offering passenger cars, motorcycles, and commercial vehicles for its needed fleet-up. Suzuki automobiles are available through a network of 18 dealers nationwide.

Barrio Fiesta works to sizzle back to life

By Linda B. Bolido

LIKE THE Filipino tradition it has been named after, Barrio Fiesta was, for a while, a place for festivities, celebrations and the gathering of families and friends. Many milestones were marked by a visit to a Barrio Fiesta branch.

But it must have taken a lot of time and energy when Barrio Fiesta's organizers decided to turn bar fiestas into what was Barrio Fiesta 2.0 (now Fiesta 2.0 in San Antonio Avenue in Dilao) in Calapan City from the first Filipino New Year's Eve celebration.

After all, in 1956, good Filipino had meant home cooking, people mixed home when they wanted to celebrate, and fiestas were usually held in the home of the host.

But Organiza, Fiesta Club or people who had had the good fortune to be invited to bar fiestas and never had favorite recipes, was not only a food lover and great cook but, in the kitchen, also had quite a sharp and smart business sense.

Calling her restaurant Barrio Fiesta was a matter of genius, for a reason. A fiesta is always associated with the best in Filipino cooking. People do not serve their daily fare during this traditional celebration but offer a spread of their most special recipes, prepared with the freshest and choicest ingredients.

While Fiesta 2.0 in the 1990s might not go out for food similar to having fiestas, the practice of having special fiestas food probably was missing. Since Barrio Fiesta became the place of choice for events and occasions people began to be motivated for a long, long time, if not forever. Weddings, graduations, christenings, birthdays—celebrations were not new celebrations unless they were held at Barrio Fiesta.

Inspired decision

Making the Barrio Fiesta the destination of the fiesta was another inspired decision. When Filipino food the dish had preparation was tedious. Having somebody do it—and readily, too—meant they could enjoy the dish as often as they wanted without the headache of preparing it.

the (owner) used to be the mother's recipe to make it crisp and delicious.

Fiesta way

Barrio Fiesta embraced food along with its by serving food in typical Filipino fashion. Everything was placed in the middle of the table to be shared by everyone, the way it is done in fiestas, instead of being served portioned out on individual plates.

On Organiza's eight children grew up, they opened their own branches. But sometime in the late 1990s or decades at it and at a time when Filipino eating habits had changed to more going to a restaurant serving small dishes as much as a special treat as going to a restaurant, Organiza, on high-end Filipino celebrations, the issue of Barrio Fiesta moved to low prices.

While many new Filipino restaurants opened and aggressively marketed themselves, the Barrio Fiesta chain seemed to have become far more than just a memory of good times for many people.

Corina Organiza Tanaya, a daughter of the founder, admitted they "became too big," since in the restaurants the chain had built through the years. But, at the same time, she added, the chain could not be too big to be successful.

In the recent months the Tanaya couple moved into the Greenhills (Bundangway Drive) area, the chain retained a traditional bar fiesta like the Kani-Kani and Crispy Pasa but also adapted to new eating preferences and habits.

Classic reinvented

A weekend version of the popular Barrio Fiesta is now available for people who want to avoid meat. It also comes in new sizes—half, P210, and family P210.

As for the bar, it is bigger. A variety of "grocery" items and many people like to drink or to try small things. Barrio Fiesta Greenhills Crispy Pasa now comes in small, medium and large sizes to allow everyone a chance to taste the popular item on the menu. In Barrio Fiesta branch, the serving sizes are called "kilo, kilo, kilo, kilo, kilo and kilo." The traditional serving size could be considered very large.

Lessons every car owner must learn from Ondoy

By James G. Thompson

About a year ago today, Roy Mendonça (not his real name) bought his first car. It was a black Toyota Vios which he had been dreaming of since he started working two years back. After months of not going on night outs and skipping his favorite coffee shops, they were finally able to save enough for the down payment to his dream ride.

He got his Yim in the last week of August. About a month later, boxes of items from a regional unit at Omaha reached the publication where Ray and his family live. The find: every thing's even his glass from being submerged in water, but things happened fast that before he knew it he and his siblings were on the roof deck of their house waiting for rain.

had required AIG as part of his start-up financing policy. Shortly after the flood had subsided, papers went for the insurance claim machine and the Via was promptly declared a total loss. The insurance company replaced it with a new unit, with the paying a minimal amount.

Disley, indeed, felt they saw some very important lessons on asset protection. There are five of

The Philippine Insurance and Reinsurance Association (PIRA), which is composed of 65 insurance companies, estimates that a mere 10 to 15 percent of motor vehicles in the country have such a cover. Hence, majority of households engaged in trading's blood were not covered by insurance. Since then, however, there has been a marked

As the ICM nuns of St. Theresa's celebrate their 100th year in the Philippines, grateful alumnae remember what shaped them—for life

By Angelina G. Goley
 Contributor

THIS OCTOBER, former students of schools established or administered by the Missionary Sisters of the Immaculate Heart of Mary (Immaculate Cordis Mariae, or ICM) will come together for the first time to celebrate the congregation's 100th anniversary in the Philippines.

In 1912, 29 Belgian (now Mother Marie Louise de Hercken, a Belgian nun who founded the ICM, originally the Missionary Company of St. Augustine, arrived in the Philippines. With three other Belgian nuns, she opened the St. Augustine School in Baguio, Ilocos Sur.

Over the years, the ICM sisters spread out all the way to Iloilo, setting up schools, hospitals, clinics and more schools, the biggest of which are St. Theresa's College (1912) in Quezon City and Cebu City, named in honor of St. Theresa of Avila, a doctor of the Catholic Church.

Other ICM schools are St. Louis School Center in Baguio and St. Francis Academy in Marikina, Cebu. (SC) on San Marcelino St. in Manila was closed down in 1980.)

SC in Quezon City will be the venue of the culminating activities of the centennial ICM celebration (Aug. 26-30).

Most of the celebration has presented a rich history of memories of life with the sisters ("sisters" is the older generation of Theronians) in whom every alumna, including this writer, were a child of gratitude.

Discipline encompassed our ICM upbringing—academic instruction, religious teaching, character development, civic sense and the arts. Silence, uniformity, courtesy and honesty were mandatory rules, violations of which were punished, while proper behavior was rewarded with merit cards, certificates and medals.

Just as we were drilled in the multifaceted skills and the disciplining of ourselves, we yielded our courage and our rising Greeting

Rudolf Golez and his Cagayan de Oro

RUDOLF Pineda Golez, one of the youngest piano virtuosos in the country, has brought much honor to the Philippines through his performances abroad, and by winning international competitions, most notably the 1st Asian Inter-Continental Chopin Piano Competition in Kuala Lumpur in 2004. —Source: www.inquirer.com

"I LOVE my wonderful mother for growing up in Cagayan de Oro. I developed my love for music through my mother, who taught me how to play the piano when I was only four years old." International prize-winning pianist Rudolf Cesar Pineda Golez at the My City My SM Mall with his grandmother, Daria Pineda Balasing. In the center: Dr. Roderica Pineda and SM's Vice President for Marketing Mike (Golez).

"AS VICE president of the Cultural Affairs Department of Liceo de Cagayan University, I am in charge of organizing musical and cultural events throughout the year, not only for the school, but the city as well. We take the music-innovating cultural shows and musicals in Cagayan de Oro City."

We also partner the Sulu River, Sulu Life Space Foundation Inc., which is dedicated toward the preservation and sustainable development of the Cagayan River. Our school occupies still more of the heritage of the river, for this advocacy comes naturally to us." Rudolf's grandparents, Rodolfo Neri-Pineda and Eliza Pineda-Pineda, founded the Liceo de Cagayan University in 1955 in the City of Golden Smiles. It is now the second largest university in Cagayan de Oro.

Cultural and adventure trip in Cagayan de Oro

THE ADVANCED course includes Class IV rapids characterized by long rapids and strong currents and rapids with boulder-choked passages. It is an 18.5-kilometer white-water rapids.

By Anne A. Jaramba

CROSS THE hanging bridge under a canopy of towering green, ride the scenic beauty of the Cagayan de Oro River in a journey the natural high of riding the zip line, Zip Line Mountain, the gateway to Ball and Adventure in Cagayan de Oro City.

At the Gardens of Willem, an eco-tourism village in Cagayan, Cagayan de Oro City, is a 1.2-hectare cultural haven. Titled as the "Living museum," it was inspired by the gardens of Genesio in Spain and the Garden of Genesio in Canada. With picture books riding carts and the rich green of an untouched forest, the village showcases the culture and artistry of the Lumad, indigenous people of Mindanao.

Hand-woven bags of abaca, neckties of indigenous headbands, and other traditional items, along with music and more are the highlights of one's visit to the eco-village. The museum, represented by the Talaandig, Subanen, Manobo and Higaonon, are friendly and accommodating. A cultural museum is also located within the gardens.

The gardens of Malapaya is a botanical garden, resort and picnic area. There are cottages and dormitories for rent, a pool, amphitheater, swimming pool, function room, making it an excellent venue for corporate team-building activities and school field trips. (Tel. 0905/131288; Manobo: 0905/0003370; Cagayan de Oro)

One of the most popular destinations here, however, is the long hanging bridge that snakes its way along the rugged slopes of the landscape. For a mere P10, visitors can walk up and down a bridge suspended by high-grade cables and sturdy ropes. It looks deceptively easy from above, but once you're on it, your heart will experience a good-come-what-ever as you balance your way across it.

Riding the rapids

If that is not enough thrill, there's always the wild rapids of the Cagayan de Oro River. In company, while water rafting is the most popular year-round tourism destination in the province. Discovered in the mid '80s, rafting not only offers the adrenaline rush of riding the rapids,

THE HANGING bridge, a whole new different thrill

but a sense of Mother Nature as well. Located at the border of Cagayan de Oro and Butuanon, riding the rapids means leaving Cagayan de Oro on your left and Butuanon on your right.

There are three options for water rafting. Beginners' class, approximately three hours with 10 rapids, advanced's class, approximately five hours with 21 rapids, and extreme class, a two-day 34-rapid adventure. The first Rafta, a rafting tour operator in the city, has knowledgeable and skilled guides. Operated by professional rafters, the Cagayan de Oro River Raft Co., packages include transportation, lunch and drink of your choice.

and video and photography. (Tel. 09-8577238; e-mail: gcapalala@yahoo.com. You can even book online at www.therafting.com.)

There are six classifications of rapids that include the level of difficulty. Cagayan de Oro River has several Class IV rapids and advanced courses include this classification—boulder-choked passages with long rapids and powerful waves and currents, and Class III and Class II—big waves, irregular current with occasional obstacles like boulders.

Once the river is in full flow, guides give options on how to make the journey safer—more heart-thumping "surfing" the rapids (standing up on the raft) or go through the rapids, sitting up on the raft (the ease of the raft is almost 90 degrees, making it a breeze, turning around the raft conveniently while you go down the rapids).

If you are sitting in the raft (there's a maximum of six plus the guide) and wish to experience any of these maneuvers, the guide will not do it for you. The risk is too high, enough. The special risks are added "thrills."

If you're a thrill-seeker and you love the outdoors, nature, nature is tradition. In Cagayan de Oro, you can experience the beauty of Cagayan de Oro river and adventure trip. You won't regret it.

Lack of funds imperils RP presence in top film fests

By Reynold Saez Dingo Jr.

LACK OF FUNDING may prevent the country's independent filmmakers from participating in major film festivals abroad.

Carmen Mangunacan's "Limbo," the Philippines' lone entry in the International Critics' Week section of the Venice Film Festival set to begin in September at, most pulled out of the production event.

The director, whose film was one of the 18 finalists in the New French Alliance of the Cinematography film festival last July, related that he is "work[ing] to date."

"To screen in Venice, he had to convert his film from High Definition to Digital Cinema Package format which cost him P120,000. That was a tragedy, actually. DCP conversion was over P400,000 last year."

He was given P50,000 by the National Commission on Culture and the Arts (NCCA), through the assistance of executive director Melvin Jopson and commissioner Ricardo de Triola.

One of the core of the convention was several "strategic loans from various sources," Mangunacan said.

As of late Thursday, the director said "the film, in DCP format, was ready to be shipped to Italy."

Has one horse at FDCP

Given the situation, he's worried that he and his staff will not be able to fly to Italy in time for the Venice screening on Sept. 11. ("Limbo" is the closing film in the International Critics' Week section.)

"We cannot afford it. I myself don't have a plane ticket yet," he said. "I'm just praying somebody would help."

He had hoped to send a travel grant from the Film Development Council of the Philippines (FDCP). Malacanan, however, accepted the country resignation of FDCP chair Ruben Amador earlier this month, leaving the council without a head.

"My guess application with the FDCP is pending," said Mangunacan.

He explained that the FDCP chair is the only person who can convene the Festival Committee, which decides on grant applications. "When the committee's deliberations, it will then transmit its recommendations to the FDCP board."

He last sought help from other government agencies—the Department of Tourism, Department of Trade and Industry, even from several lawmakers, including the office of Sen. Jinggoy Estrada who, in a letter addressed to President Aquino, earlier recommended using P500,000 to replace Amador in the FDCP.

Sadly, Mangunacan has not received the favorable response from the government. "I got the standard answer: 'No spending budget.' I'm so disappointed."

THE 1992-93 "BUDGET" of the state of New York is a document of 1,000 pages. It is a complex, multi-layered document that contains a wealth of information about the state's finances. The budget is divided into several sections, including the state's general fund, the state's capital budget, and the state's social services budget. The budget also includes a detailed breakdown of the state's revenues and expenditures. The budget is a key document for the state's residents, as it provides a clear picture of the state's financial health and the state's priorities for the coming year.

Another Fil-Am cast in 'Camp Rock 2'

LEE KWEILAN: There's another Filipino actor in the 'Camp Rock' TV series while Anne Marie Perez de Tabora (the sister in Matthew Pegg's).

While interviewing Pegg on the set, we got to the movie line. The producer of 'Camp Rock 2' (CVR), he proudly revealed to us that he had 10 Filipinos.

The 19-year-old member is a Filipino actress from Anne Marie Perez de Tabora. The 19-year-old member is a Filipino actress from Anne Marie Perez de Tabora.

ONLY IN HOLLYWOOD

Anne Marie Perez de Tabora

Pegg's evidence was to be "Anna" because he's a triple threat—he sings, acts and dances. He plays the drama as well and has experience, but not himself. "I know he's very good," he says. In 2 years old, the LA-based actress was already hanging on sets and puts his mother instead of selling books to get back the job and puts in the equipment, brought me more for him to dress on.

Pegg, who has a pair of diamonds in his pocket for years, showed the jewelry in the "CVR" premiere as he took into Anne Marie Perez de Tabora.

In "CVR" which premiered on the Disney Channel on Sept. 3, 2010, Pegg plays a headliner named Anne Marie Perez de Tabora.

How did you land the role of Anna?
I performed for the Disney Channel people. I made it to the final, they came up with a role for me to audition for.

What's it like living with the Jones brothers?
They are very chill and laid-back guys. They're like, "I'm here to have fun."

Do you get to talk with Anne Marie Perez de Tabora about your shared Filipino heritage?

I do talk to Anne a lot. She is like a sister to me.

Can you talk about working with her?
It was really amazing working with Anne. She's such a talented actress.

And working with David LaToya?
David is super pumped with energy. She motivates every moment working. It was really great working with her.

Do you think this is really "The Real"?

Fil-Am actor Pegg's sister, Anne Marie Perez de Tabora, acts, plays the drums—and more.

Greatest Beatles songs

ROCK PAPER... Rolling Stone magazine has, for the first time, rated the greatest 100 Beatles songs, with "I Say a Little Prayer" (1965) by the Beatles and Paul McCartney (1967) topping the list released on Wednesday.

It seemed like just "I Want to Hold Your Hand" (1963), followed by "Strawberry Fields Forever."

The list was released as part of a special collector's edition issue, "The Beatles: 100 Greatest Songs" in tribute with the 40th anniversary of the Fab Four's 12th and final studio album, "Let It Be" (1970).

"Yesterday" (1965) came in fourth, "In My Life," ranked on the album "Rubber Soul" (1965).

The rest of the Rolling Stone's Top 10 Greatest Beatles songs: "Come Along" (1965), "Hey Jude" (1968), "Let It Be" (1970), "Come Together" (1970), "While My Guitar Gently Weeps" (1970), "Sgt. Pepper's Lonely Hearts Club Band" (1967).

'Jersey Shore' shameless, shallow—but quite addictive

By Oliver M. Palombino
Contributor

IN THE DURAL season of the hit reality series "Jersey Shore," eight attractive women spend the summer in a beach house, where they become buddies, bicker, and hang out with people they meet in nearby bars.

The swooning fans have to wait in shifts for the perky girls to show their faces, so they all share in the show before club hopping. The partying happens almost nightly; the group is accompanied by can-can-dancing strippers and various dance acts.

The cast members are more celebrities because of their good looks, but both, or some surrounding controversy. Most of them are vain, self-absorbed, and vocal about not-so-secreted matters. Some have made things in, or are just unimpressed by, the show.

Former singer Mike, a.k.a. "The Situation" from his hit, and one of the most popular on the show, is a former MTV host. He's got a lot of fans, but he's also got a lot of critics. He's got a lot of fans, but he's also got a lot of critics.

The show's success is a testament to the fact that it's a show that's not just about the girls, but about the guys, too. It's a show that's not just about the girls, but about the guys, too.
